Luca Wolffenbuttel Bohnenberger

Table of contents

1 Welcome to my Digital Notebook

I am a Data Science and Artificial Intelligence student at PUCRS and a researcher at NAIA, where I focus on Applied Research in Large Language Models (LLMs).

1.1 Why this blog?

This space serves as a repository for my studies and technical reflections. My main goal is to document my learning journey in a didactic way, transforming dense academic notes into clear, structured, and accessible content.

Whether you are a fellow student or a researcher, I hope my notes can help demystify the "black box" of AI for you as they do for me.

"What I cannot create, I do not understand." – Richard Feynman